

COME AGAIN

John Dowland (1563 ? - 1626)

S

1. Come a - gain ! Sweet love doth now in - vite Thy gra - ces, that re -
 2. Come a - gain ! That I may cease to mourn Throught thy un - kind dis -

A

1. Come a - gain ! Sweet love doth now in - vite Thy gra - ces, that re -
 2. Come a - gain ! That I may cease to mourn Throught - thy un - kind dis -

T

1. Come a - gain ! Sweet love doth now in - vite Thy gra - ces, that re -
 2. Come a - gain ! That I may cease to mourn Throught thy un - kind dis -

B

1. Come a - gain ! Sweet love doth now in - vite Thy gra - ces, that re -
 2. Come a - gain ! That I may cease to mourn Throught thy un - kind dis -

6

frain to do me due de - light ; to see, to hear, to touch, to kiss, to die - dain : for now, left and for - lorn ; I sit, I sigh, I weep, I faint, I die - frain to do me due de - light ; to see, to hear, to touch, to kiss, to dain for now, left and for - lorn ; I sit, I sigh, I weep, I faint, I

frain to do me due de - light ; to see, to hear, to touch, to kiss, to dain : for now, left and for - lorn ; I sit, I sigh, I weep, I faint, I

11

frain to do me due de - light ; to see, to hear, to touch, to kiss, to dain : to now, left and for - lorn ; I sit, I sigh, I weep, I faint, I

Dispositif antiphotocopie Dispositif antiphotocopie :

Dispositif antiphotocopie Dispositif antiphotocopie :

Dispositif antiphotocopie Dispositif antiphotocopie :

1. Reviens ! Le tendre amour appelle maintenant tes charmes qui refusent de m'accorder le juste plaisir de te voir, t'entendre, te toucher, te baiser et mourir avec toi dans la plus douce harmonie.
2. Reviens ! Que je cesse de me lamenter de ta cruelle indifférence : car maintenant, seul et abandonné, j'attends, je soupire, je pleure, je défaille, je me meurs d'une douleur fatale, d'un mal infini.